The O*NET™ Career Exploration Tools are composed of the WORK IMPORTANCE LOCATOR, INTEREST PROFILER, and ABILITY PROFILER products and are owned by the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration (DOL/ETA). All O*NET Assessment/Counseling Tools are copyrighted. O*NET is a trademark of DOL/ETA.

The DOL/ETA developed the O*NET Career Exploration Tools as career counseling, career planning, and exploration tools. In order for each tool to provide an objective assessment, extensive research and development was conducted to ensure that the directions, format, items, and score reports lead to valid assessment. DOL/ETA adhered to the high standards of the American Psychological Association, the American Education Research Association, and the National Council on Measurement in Education in developing the O*NET Career Exploration Tools. In developing the tools, fairness analyses were conducted to ensure that score results were equally valid both from a statistical and a usability perspective.

Results provided from the O*NET Career Exploration Tools are part of a whole-person approach to the assessment process. They provide useful information that individuals can use to identify their strengths, the parts of work they like to do, and the parts of work that they may find important. Individuals can use results to identify training needs and occupations that they may wish to explore further. Individuals are strongly encouraged to use additional information about themselves with O*NET Career Exploration results when making career decisions.

As such, the use of the O*NET Career Exploration Tools is authorized for career exploration, career planning, and career counseling purposes only. Each O*NET Career Exploration Tool must be used consistent with its own “User’s Guide.” No other use of these tools or any part of the tools is valid or authorized.

All users are bound by the terms of “Special Notice: User’s Agreement.” If you use any of the O*NET Career Exploration Tools, you have agreed to be bound by the terms of “Special Notice: User’s Agreement.”

If any of the O*NET Career Exploration Tools is used for a purpose or purposes other than career exploration, career planning, and career counseling purposes, it is a violation of this agreement and neither the U.S. Department of Labor nor the Employment and Training Administration is liable for any misuse of the Tools. The U.S. Department of Labor and the Employment and Training Administration reserve the right to pursue all legal remedies for violations of this User’s Agreement.

Recipients of federal assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor must ensure that individuals with disabilities are afforded an equal opportunity to use services based on the O*NET Career Exploration Tools. For further discussion of these obligations, see the Department of Labor’s Equal Opportunity Guidance Letter No. 4. This document currently is being reissued and will be found at the National O*NET Consortium web site in the near future at <http://www.onetcenter.org>.

Interest Profiler Score Report

Name: _____ Date: _____

(Please print your name and the date in the spaces above.)

Recently, you took the Interest Profiler to learn more about your work-related interests. To help you think about and identify your interests, the Interest Profiler asked you whether you “like” or “dislike” many different kinds of work activities. As you probably noticed, these work activities described many different parts of occupations.

The work activities also represent six broad career Interest Areas.

You already have scored your Interest Profiler. Remember, you can use your results to explore occupations that may satisfy your interests. Your results should not be used for employment or hiring decisions. Employers, education programs, or other job related programs should not use your results as part of a screening process for jobs or training.

Now, continue reading to find out what your strongest interests are and how you can use them to explore the world of work.

In the spaces below, copy your Interest Area scores from the Interest Profiler:

- Your R score:

Realistic
- Your I score:

Investigative
- Your A score:

Artistic
- Your S score:

Social
- Your E score:

Notes

The Interest Profiler: How Can It Help You?

What Are Your Primary and Secondary Interest Areas?

Which Interest Area has your highest score:
R, I, A, S, E, or C? Enter the letter for that Interest Area in the box below and also in the box for Primary Interest Area on page 11.

Your Primary Interest Area: _____

You will use your Primary Interest Area first to explore careers.

(If two Interest Areas are tied for the highest score or are within 5 points of each other, use both of them for your Primary Interest Area. You have two equally strong interests.)

You can use your interests to explore careers. Interests are good to use because you probably will find that occupations that meet your interests will be more satisfying and rewarding for you than occupations that don't meet your interests.

On the next pages, you can learn more about your interests and how you can use them to explore the world of work. The following sections will:

- define each Interest Area for you, and
- give steps for you to follow to use your interest scores in identifying groups of occupations to explore.

Which Interest Area has your next highest score?
Which Interest Area has your third highest score?
Enter the letters for those areas in the box below and also in the box for Secondary Interest Areas on page 11.

Your Secondary Interest Areas: ____ & ____

(If you do not find many occupations that you like using your Primary Interest Area, you can use your Secondary Interest Areas to look at more career options.)

Remember, though, that interests are just some of the information that you can use to explore careers. Other useful information about yourself:

- your abilities,
- work values,
- experience,
- education, and
- motivation

are also important in exploring careers. The more aspects of yourself that you use to explore careers, the better chance you have of finding satisfying work.

You can think of occupational interests as your liking or preference for certain work activities. The Interest Profiler measures interests in each of the six Interest Areas described below. Read over the definitions of your Primary and Secondary Interest Areas to get a better understanding of your occupational interests.

People with _____ interests like work activities that include practical, hands-on problems and solutions. They enjoy dealing with plants, animals, and real-world materials, like wood, tools, and machinery. They enjoy outside work. Often people with _____ interests do not like occupations that mainly involve doing paperwork or working closely with others.

People with _____ interests like work activities that have to do with ideas and thinking more than with physical activity. They like to search for facts and figure out problems mentally rather than to persuade or lead people.

People with _____ interests like work activities that deal with the artistic side of things, such as forms, designs, and patterns. They like self-expression in their work. They prefer settings where work can be done without following a clear set of rules.

People with _____ interests like work activities that assist others and promote learning and personal development. They prefer to communicate more than to work with objects, machines, or data. They like to teach, to give advice, to help, or otherwise be of service to people.

People with _____ interests like work activities that have to do with starting up and carrying out projects, especially business ventures. They like persuading and leading people and making decisions. They like taking risks for profit. These people prefer action rather than thought.

People with _____ interests like work activities that follow set procedures and routines. They prefer working with data and detail more than with ideas. They prefer work in which there are precise standards rather than work in which you have to judge things by yourself. These people like working where the lines of authority are clear.

Now that you know your Primary and Secondary Interest Areas and have read their descriptions on the previous page, you are ready to find the occupations that are linked with your interests.

To help you identify occupations that can satisfy your interests, this score report provides six occupational lists, one for each of the six Interest Areas. Each list shows the occupations that link best with that Interest Area.

You will notice that each of the lists of occupations is divided into five Job Zones. Each Job Zone contains occupations that require about the same amount of education, training, and experience. Knowing your Job Zone can help you focus your career exploration.

Read below to find out about the Job Zones and how to pick your Job Zone. To explore occupations on this score report, you will need to know your Job Zone as well as your Primary Interest Area. (If you have already picked a Job Zone, turn to pages 6 and 11 and write your Job Zone(s) in the spaces provided.)

A Job Zone is a group of occupations that are similar in these ways:

- how most people get into the job,
- how much overall experience people need to do the job,
- how much education people need to do the job, and

- how much on-the-job training people need to do the job.

In other words, the occupations in a Job Zone require similar amounts of preparation. By picking a Job Zone, you will be able to narrow down your career search.

The five Job Zones are:

- occupations that need Little or No preparation
- occupations that need Some preparation
- occupations that need Medium preparation
- occupations that need Considerable preparation
- occupations that need Extensive preparation

To help you explore occupations, you can think about Job Zones in two ways:

- your current Job Zone and
- your future Job Zone.

Current Job Zone: If you want to explore occupations at your current “level of preparation,” choose the Job Zone that best matches the amount of training, education, and experience you have now. This is your Current Job Zone, the zone with jobs that need the level of preparation you have right now.

Future Job Zone: If you want to explore occupations based on your future level of preparation (for example, after you finish high school, technical training, or college), choose the Job Zone that best matches the experience, training, and education you expect to have in the future. This is your Future Job Zone, the zone with jobs you may eventually have the knowledge and skills to do.

To get a better idea of what they mean, read the following Job Zone definitions:

Overall Experience — No previous work-related skill, knowledge, or experience is needed for these occupations. For example, a person can become a general office clerk even if he/she has never worked in an office before.

Education — These occupations may require a high school diploma or GED certificate. Some may require a formal training course to obtain a license.

Job Training — Employees in these occupations need anywhere from a few days to a few months of training. Usually, an experienced worker could show you how to do the job.

Examples — These occupations involve following instructions and helping others. Examples include bus drivers, forest and conservation workers, general office clerks, home health aides, and waiters/waitresses.

Overall Experience — Some previous work-related skill, knowledge, or experience may be helpful in these occupations, but usually is not needed. For example, a drywall installer might benefit from experience installing drywall, but an inexperienced person could still learn to be an installer with little difficulty.

Education — These occupations usually require a high school diploma and may require some vocational training or job-related course work. In some cases, an associate’s or bachelor’s degree could be needed.

Job Training — Employees in these occupations need anywhere from a few months to one year of working with experienced employees.

Examples — These occupations often involve using your knowledge and skills to help others. Examples include drywall installers, fire inspectors, flight attendants, pharmacy technicians, retail salespersons, and tellers.

Overall Experience — Previous work-related skill, knowledge, or experience is required for these occupations. For example, an electrician must have completed three or four years of apprenticeship or several years of vocational training, and often must have passed a licensing exam, in order to perform the job.

Education — Most occupations in this zone require training in vocational schools, related on-the-job experience, or an associate’s degree. Some may require a bachelor’s degree.

Job Training — Employees in these occupations usually need one or two years of training involving both on-the-job experience and informal training with experienced workers.

Examples — These occupations usually involve using communication and organizational skills to coordinate, supervise, manage, or train others to accomplish goals. Examples include dental assistants, electricians, fish and game wardens, legal secretaries, personnel recruiters, and recreation workers.

 The occupation was assigned to the group based on its second highest interest area.

Job Zone Definitions

Job Zone 1: Little or No Preparation Needed

Job Zone 2: Some Preparation Needed

Job Zone 3: Medium Preparation Needed

Overall Experience — A minimum of two to four years of work-related skill, knowledge, or experience is needed for these occupations. For example, an accountant must complete four years of college and work for several years in accounting to be considered qualified.

Education — Most of these occupations require a four-year bachelor’s degree, but some do not.

Overall Experience — Extensive skill, knowledge, and experience are needed for these occupations. Many require more than five years of experience. For example, surgeons must complete four years of college and an additional five to seven years of specialized medical training to be able to do their job.

Education — A bachelor’s degree is the minimum formal education required for these occupations. However, most also require graduate school. For example, they may require a master’s degree, and some require a Ph.D., M.D., or J.D. (law degree).

To help you decide if a Job Zone fits you, you might ask yourself:

“Do I have the experience, education, and training needed to do the work for occupations in this Job Zone?” (Current Job Zone)

“Am I willing to get the experience, education, and training needed to do the work for occupations in this Job Zone?” (Future Job Zone)

“Would I like to work in at least some of the occupations in this Job Zone?”

Job Training — Employees in these occupations usually need several years of work-related experience, on-the-job training, and/or vocational training.

Examples — Many of these occupations involve coordinating, supervising, managing, or training others. Examples include accountants, chefs and head cooks, computer programmers, historians, and police detectives.

Job Training — Employees may need some on-the-job training, but most of these occupations assume that the person will already have the required skills, knowledge, work-related experience, and/or training.

Examples — These occupations often involve coordinating, training, supervising, or managing the activities of others to accomplish goals. Very advanced communication and organizational skills are required. Examples include lawyers, instrumental musicians, physicists, counseling psychologists, and surgeons.

If you answered “yes” to these questions, then you have found your Job Zone(s).

If you answered “no” to these questions, you may want to look at the other Job Zone definitions to find one better suited to your situation.

Write the Job Zone(s) you picked in the space(s) below and in the box on page 11:

Your Current Job Zone: ____ (1, 2, 3, 4, or 5)

Your Future Job Zone: ____ (1, 2, 3, 4, or 5)

 The occupation was assigned to the group based on its second highest interest area.
 The occupation was assigned to the group based on its third highest interest area.

Now that you have picked your Job Zone, start exploring occupations in your Primary Interest Area that are included in your Job Zone. The steps listed below can help you find occupations in your Job Zone that link with your interests.

The six occupational lists begin on page 11. Find the occupational list for your Primary Interest Area and look over the occupations that are listed there. Based on your answers to the Interest Profiler, these are examples of the occupations with the best chance of satisfying your interests.

Review the occupations that are listed in your Job Zone under your Primary Interest Area. By choosing this Job Zone, you have indicated that these occupations would best use your current knowledge and skills or your future knowledge and skills. Do you see any occupations that you would like to find out more about? Once you have selected occupations to explore, list them in the spaces provided on page 11.

When you have selected occupations to explore, you can use O*NET™ OnLine, the Occupational Information Network, to find out such information as:

- the types of activities that are performed in those occupations;
- the skills, abilities, education, training, and experience that are needed for them; and
- the wages and future employment outlook that are predicted for the occupations.

To see more occupations in your Job Zone that link with your Primary Interest Area, ask your teacher or counselor for a copy of the Interest Profiler O*NET Occupations Master List.

If you don't like the occupations in your Job Zone listed for your Primary Interest Area and you don't want to explore them, you have several choices:

- You can review the Job Zone definitions to make sure that you have chosen the Job Zone that best matches your current or future situation.
- If you are satisfied with your choice of Job Zone, you can find the occupational listing for your Secondary Interest Area and look at the occupations listed in your Job Zone for that Interest Area. Do any of those occupations appeal to you? If so, you can explore them in O*NET OnLine.
- If you aren't happy with any of the occupations in your second highest Interest Area, you can look at the occupations in your Job Zone for your third highest Interest Area.
- Also, you can look at the Interest Profiler O*NET Occupations Master List for more occupations.

If you want to learn more about an occupation not on your list:

- Look in the “Snapshot” section of O*NET OnLine for that specific occupation. To access the Snapshot section, click on the “Snapshot” button after you enter O*NET OnLine.
- How high is your score for the occupation's Interest Area?
 - Is the score for that Interest Area close to your three highest scores, showing that it may be a good choice for you, or is it one of your lower scores?

Exploring Careers Using Your Interests and Your Job Zone:

- 1. Look at your Primary Interest Area occupations.

2. Review the occupations in your Job Zone.

3. Find out more about the occupations.

4. Check the Interest Profiler O*NET Occupations Master List.
- 5. Still want more? Check your Job Zone and other Interest Areas.

6. Want to know about a particular occupation not on your list?

- If that score is one of your three lowest Interest Area scores, the occupation may not be well suited with your interests. You may want to think about why you picked this occupation to explore.

• What really interests you about this occupation?

- The money you could make?
- The glamour of being in the occupation?
- The excitement of the work?
- The expectations of family or friends?

- If you think you like this occupation for reasons other than liking what the workers actually do on the job, you may want to do more exploring to be sure that the work will satisfy you.

- Read about the occupation in other reference books or materials to learn more about what the work really involves.

- Take one or more of the other Career Exploration Tools to see if the results show that your abilities and your work values support your interest in this occupation.

- Talk to someone working in the occupation to find out what it is really like.

(Skip this section if you agree with your results. Go on to “Using Your Interests with Other Career Exploration Tools” on page 10.)

Perhaps, after reviewing your results, you might think that they don’t really describe your interests as you see them. You may think the descriptions of your highest Interest Areas don’t really sound like you. Or, you might not have pictured yourself working in the occupations listed with your Interest Areas. Don’t worry about it. Here are some things you can do that may give you results you are more comfortable with:

Read the scoring instructions again to make sure that you followed them correctly.

- In each of the color bands, did you count only the squares you marked “Like”? Did you count them correctly? If you aren’t sure, it might be a good idea to count them again just to be certain.

- Did you count your “Likes” that were in the green band first? Then, did you count the “Likes” in each of the other color bands separately, as you did in the green band?
 - For each one of the color bands, check the numbers that you wrote in the boxes on the scoring flap.
 - Do those numbers match the number of “Likes” that you marked in that color band?

- Did you add up the box numbers on the scoring flap correctly? If you aren’t sure, check your math again in each color band.

- Did you answer all the questions in the Interest Profiler? Did you skip any pages? You might check back just to make sure.

If you find that you counted “Likes” correctly in each color band and that your math is correct, then look next at how you marked your answers.

- Did you understand the instructions under “How to Complete the Interest Profiler” on page 3? If you think you may have misunderstood the instructions, it might be a good idea to read over them again.

- Did you mark your answers the way you meant to?
Do your answers show your real likes and dislikes? Do you want to change any of your answers?
- If you change any of your answers, be sure to score the Interest Profiler again so that you get accurate results.

Look again at the occupations listed for your highest Interest Area.

- Do any of them interest you?
- Are you familiar with all of the occupations listed there? Do you need more information about some of them?
- You can find out more about the occupations in the list by looking at O*NET OnLine. You may find that some of the occupations listed are not what you thought they were. They may fit your interests very well.

If you still disagree with your highest Interest Area or areas, look at your next highest area.

- Read again the definition of your next highest Interest Area. Does it describe your interests better?
- Do the occupations listed for your next highest Interest Area appear to be more in line with your interests? Do you see any that you would want to explore further?

If, after going through the steps listed above, you still have not found the Interest Area or areas that best describe you, look at the definitions of the other Interest Areas.

- Do any of them describe you better?
- Do the occupations listed under these areas seem interesting to you?
- You may want to use one or more of these Interest Areas to help you explore careers.

Sometimes, talking with other people can help you understand your results better.

- For instance, a friend, teacher, counselor, minister, or family member may identify things that you like to do that you just forgot about or didn't think were important: things like sports you like to play, or hobbies you used to have, or subjects in school that you did really well in.
- The different point of view that another person can bring may help you understand why you got the interest results that you did.

You might find that once you use your Interest Profiler results to explore careers, they really do make sense. Don't give up on your results too soon!

- Look at some occupations that are linked to your highest Interest Area(s) and see what they are really all about. You might be surprised to find occupations that interest you very much and that you may want to explore or pursue further!
- Do you know people who work in any of the occupations listed under your highest Interest Area? If you talk with them about what they do on their jobs, you may find that the occupations are just what you would like!

5. Check out the other Interest Areas.

3. Take another look at the occupations listed for your highest Interest Area.

6. Talk to someone about your interest results.

4. Use your other highest Interest Areas to explore careers.

7. Try your interest results out.

You can use this score report together with the score report for the Work Importance Locator to get a better idea of the kinds of careers you might find satisfying and rewarding. Also available from your teacher or counselor is the O*NET Occupations Combined List: Interests and Work Values that allows you to use the results from both instruments at the same time to find occupations that satisfy both your interests and your work values.

As you explore your career options, you should know that other tools will be available to help you. The Interest Profiler is just one of five tools making up the O*NET Career Exploration Tools. The other tools are:

- ❖ The Computerized Interest Profiler — helps you find out what your work-related interests are. It is similar to the paper-and-pencil Interest Profiler, except that you answer and score the questions on a computer.
- ❖ The Ability Profiler — helps you find out what kinds of jobs you can learn to do well. It can help you recognize where your strengths are and where you might need more training or education.
- ❖ The Work Importance Locator — helps you decide what is important to you in a job. It can help you identify occupations that you may find satisfying.
- ❖ The Work Importance Profiler — a computer-based version of the Work Importance Locator, it helps you decide what is important to you in a job.

These tools give you three important pieces of information that are valuable to you when exploring careers:

- (1) what is important to you in your world of work,
- (2) what you can do well, and
- (3) what you like to do.

You may use the tools separately or together. You can use them to identify occupations in the world of work that you may want to explore.
